Zap.com Corporation was founded by Zapata Corp. in April, 1998, to create and operate a premier Internet network with global market reach.

Statements in this press release that are not strictly historical are "forward-looking" statements that are made pursuant to the safe harbor provision of the Private Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995. Forward-looking statements involve known and unknown risks, which may cause the company's actual results in the future to differ materially from expected results. These risks and uncertainties include, among others: the Company's lack of an operating history; the risks inherent in establishing a new business in the Internet industry; the lack of a present source of revenues; the extent of the losses and negative cash flows that the Company anticipates; the Company's unproven business model; the ability of the Company to successfully finalize development of its Internet banner; risks associated with the Company's dependence on the Internet; intense competition; the extent to which a trading market develops in its stock; the Company's ability to raise capital if necessary; the Company's ability to maintain intellectual property protection for its proprietary products, to defend its existing intellectual property rights from challenges by third parties, and to avoid infringing intellectual property rights of third parties; unforeseen operating risks; the Company's ability to secure agreements with third parties for various services and marketing and other functions; and the availability of capital to finance planned activities if necessary. These risks are qualified in their entirety by cautionary language and risk factors set forth in the Company's filings with the Securities and Exchange Commission ("SEC"), including the Company's Registration Statement on Form S-1 filed with the SEC on April 13, 1999, as amended. The Company assumes no obligation to update the information included in this press release.
